

IntelliVOL

Corporate Testimonials

“As a Coca-Cola account manager specializing in education I saw the immediate value in x2VOL for our education partners. As federal and state legislation continues to tighten around sugar and carbonated beverages, Coca-Cola had to look for innovative methods to become valued partners in this area and x2VOL was the perfect fit!”

- Coca-Cola Refreshments Account Manager

"Community service is becoming a critical part of the education experience. It is not only increasingly important for helping students meet graduation requirements, but it provides meaningful experience to students that want to explore post-secondary options that are aligned with their skills and interests"

- Stephen M. Smith, President of Hobsons, K-12 and co-founder of Naviance, the world's leading college and career readiness platform

“The spirit of service – of Catholic educators and learners reflecting on the valuable work they do in light of their faith – is instilled throughout all the activities and relationships of the National Catholic Educational Association (NCEA). It is in this spirit of service, as well as in the spirit of leadership and direction, that NCEA is most appreciative of IntelliVOL's support of Catholic educational professionals and students.”

- Lori Dahlhoff, EdD, Executive Director, NCEA Religious Education Department